NICE's original guidance on Crohn's disease: management in adults, children and young people was published in October 2012; it was partially updated in May 2016 when a new recommendation on inducing remission was added. It has now undergone a further partial update published in May 2019. The full, current recommendations can be found on the NICE website.

This document preserves evidence reviews and committee discussions for areas of the guideline that have not been updated in 2019. Black shading indicates text from 2012 replaced by the 2019 update.
