

Economic plan

This plan identifies the areas prioritised for economic modelling. The final analysis may differ from those described below. The rationale for any differences will be explained in the guideline.

1 Guideline

Babies, children and young people's experience of healthcare

2 List of modelling questions

The following questions were prioritised for new modelling:

How should the risks and benefits of healthcare decisions be explained to children and young people and the parents or carers of babies and young children? – quantitative review.

What factors are important to babies, children and young people to improve their experience of healthcare services? – quantitative review.

However, the effectiveness data was insufficient/not suitable to inform useful modelling in any of the prioritised areas.