

Response From British Sleep Society on Review Proposal of NICE Document
Guidance on the use of drugs for the management of Insomnia 2004/021

I have reviewed the documents relevant to 2004 guidance on the use of drugs for the management of insomnia. I am not aware of any new trials, studies or meta-analysis that will provide new information for inclusion in 2004 documents. The guidance from NICE is unlikely to be altered and I would accept that further review of new information could be considered in 2010.
